Annals Of Achievement Engages LDS Speaker

by Vicki Soha

Jesse Evans Smith, renowned singer and wife of Joseph Fielding Smith, president of the Quorum of Twelve Apostles, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, will be a guest speaker at the 1957 Annuals of Achievement, Thursday at 7 p. m. in the Smith auditorium.

Mrs Smith, who will sing and speak on the program, first performed in the Salt Lake City Tabernacle in 1918. She appeared with the tabernacle choir as soloist in the Hollywood Bowl. She also appeared in San Diego at the California International Exposition.

For some time Mrs. Smith sang in the old Salt Lake theater and has hosted many eminent artists there.

She has 20 recordings to her credit, including folk songs, love songs, hymns and sacred songs.

She has sung in Europe, Hawaii, Canada, Central America, Alaska, Japan, Korea, Guam and the Philippines. She often sings in the language of the people to whom she is singing.

Theme for the program which will honor girls who are outstanding in leadership and service will be "Footprints on the Sands of Time."

The new members of the 1957-58 Associated Women Students will be announced, and the White Key members for next year will be introduced. Newly tapped Spurs and Y Calcaves will also be recognized as will all dorm presidents and social unit presidents.

The senior member of Alpha Lambda Delta with the highest scholastic average will be made a special presentation. Special

by Jerry Molloy
Daily Universe Writer

Capella Choir presents its concerts of the school year today at the Smith Auditorium, 8:30 p. m., and Friday at Orem High School auditorium at 8:15 p. m.

Lowell B. Voight will conduct the choir for the last time, as he was granted a leave of ce, from Brigham Young ersity to study at the Uniy of Southern California. Danforth Teacher's grant ...ituted the program in ...ford Gates', of Brigham g University. "On My Love s Red, Red Rose," The ...come from a poem by Robbins. It is dedicated to the A Cappella Choir.

Other program numbers will include the Russian folks song, "Yonder, Yonder" hymns, "I Know That My Redeemer Lives," and "Through Deepening Trials," both arranged by Newell B. Weight; a Bach motet, "The Spirit Also Helpeth Us," and a Latin song, "O Vos Omnes," by T. L. daVittoria.

Specials for the Thursday evening performance are the Male Quartet who have been previously auditioned on Bob Crosby's television show in Hollywood, a piano duet by Helen Wardell, El Paso, Texas, and Russell Crockett, Montpelier, Ida., and a feature Spanish rhythm and soprano Nanette Hutchinson who had a similar show in BYU's production of Carmen.

Special For BYU Women

This issue of the Daily Universe is aimed at the coeds on the Brigham Young University campus, in accordance with Women's Week activities.

Special editorials, features and stories are aimed at the women of the university. The issue was edited by Marilyn Arnold, Ogden. Special women's sports page was planned by Carolyn Harris, Lund, Nev.

Program Bureau To Entertain, Pies To Fly During Assembly

Program bureau will shower students at Thursday's student assembly with a wild "Talent Extravaganza" with performers numbering more than 100 from most of the acts the bureau has used during the past year.

Talent Scheduled

An array of dancers, singers, comedians, vocal groups and any other bit of talent available is scheduled to pack the hour long assembly with solid entertainment.

Sylvia Tyler, Los Angeles, director of the affair, said the show would display most of the top performers on campus.

Two bands, the Collegians and the Y's Men, will provide music for the assembly. Winston Christensen, program bureau chairman, is slated to emcee the event.

Participating in the comedian sequence are Verland Whipple, Skip Nelson, Roy Baumgariner, Duane Hiatt and Dick Davis.

Dancers Perform

In the dance group classification will appear the Brighamettes, Rockets, Y Liters, Y's Guys and Gals, Castle Dancers and the Debonettes.

Junior class triumphed in an election challenge issued by Sloan Hales, freshman president.

Female soloists Diana Bell, Ruth Gudmenson, Lou Ann Ohlenhausley and Juana Dalton are to perform in a group at the assembly.

IT'S A WOMAN'S WORLD

"It's A Woman's World"—or is it? At least, the song says so! Well, it's women's week at the Brigham Young University and that's reason enough to sound off on the subject of that ...able, changeable, unpredictable, patient, understanding, lovable bit of humanity known as woman."

RIB OF MAN

What is it all about, this business of being ... of the rib of man? That's the $64,000 question. Some of us think we have the answer, but there are many of us who never find the complete answer.

Every year several thousands young Latter-day Saint girls trek to various colleges to further their education, that they may take their place in the world. Education? What place? The place is the best—Latter-day Saint girls may look forward to becoming queens in the Kingdom of our Father in Heaven. Queens! No less. They'll need to be educated in queenly qualities. They must think: "I am to be a queen. I must always think and act like a queen." There will be studies, reading, writing and 'rithmetic. There will be some philosophy, history and science, but in every class there will be one subject which should be studied, regardless—human relationship—how to get along with our fellow men, how to truly love our fellow men as ourselves.

IT'S LOVE

There is no panacea for working out these human relationships. But, to get back to the song we might suggest: "It's a woman's world—when you're in love." Love! That's it. Taking a little literary license, let's say: "When you're in love with life." When we love life and all it offers things assume a happy perspective. It is easy then to be queenly, to befriend the friendless, to speak no evil, to live above reproach, to keep sweet and clean.

College days come at a time when girls are terrifically suceptible to being hurt and hurting. Friendships fan hot and cold. Love affairs are born and die over night. Girls are accepted by one group, unaccepted by another. Parents and teachers seem (to us) unduly critical and concerned about diets, habits, morals, etc., etc., etc.!

But college days do come at a time when we are really susceptible to learning—learning why we are here, where we are going—when, and how! Learning when it is smart to say yes, smart to say no, smart to speak, smart not to speak. Learning queenly attributes like sweet dignity unhampered by snobbery, beautiful cleanliness without prudishness, good conversation minus gossip, sheer spiritual beauty that will endure—not shallow prettiness that will fade tomorrow.

BYU LEADERSHIP

Truly, college days come at just the right time and because of BYU college days with BYU leadership, all the lovely girls who pass through our portals should be able to work out this big problem of human relationship and to make of this old world, with all its complexities a thing of beauty forever; should be able to make it a very satisfactory worthwhile and beautiful experience for their beloveds to hold the priesthood, to be husbands, to be fathers.

Yes, truly, it is a woman's world if we will just be in love with life, remembering who we are, where we're going—a woman's world where young women may learn how to become queens in the Kingdom of God.

WHAT IS IT?

This week is Women's Week, marking the climax of another successful year for the Associated Women Students. AWS is probably the most active organization on campus, yet there are some of us who don't even know what the letters A-W-S represent.

WHAT IS IT?

Some naive fellow while dancing at the AWS-sponsored Preference Ball is very likely to blurt out, "What is this AWS anyway, and what has AWS ever done?"

This unappreciated and "pushed-into-the-background" provides opportunities for service to hundreds and hundreds of girls each year. At the same time it provides activity and fun for every student at Brigham Young University, with special emphasis of course on women.

Women's social units become more meaningful and worthwhile because AWS sets before them a goal to achieve. Social units compete for an AWS traveling service trophy by performing various service projects and participating in school activities and contests.

Songfest is quite an important event around BYU, and who makes it all possible? Some students have probably sung in it for four years without realizing that AWS was behind it all.

You who worked on Y mountain or in the community Wednesday, or you who took Y Day as an ill-gotten holiday have AWS in part to thank for the rest from classes. AWS and AMS jointly sponsor Y Day, keeping tradition alive at BYU.

Another project AWS and AMS tackle together is the Christmas Drive—a worthy undertaking.

Every girl upon entering BYU is given a "big sister" to acquaint the new student with the school and the people that make BYU what it is. We think this project alone sizably cuts down the inevitable freshman drop-out after fall quarter.

GET ACQUAINTED

Get-acquainted parties given by AWS for transfer and foreign students help these new Brighams to feel the "spirit of the Y."

Tacked onto these things mentioned are many other smaller projects, too numerous to mention. This is Women's Week, but it's AWS Week every week, for never a week goes by that AWS isn't working on some worthy project. Let's get to know AWS and what it does for us. Hats off to the Associated Women Students of Brigham Young University!

AWS Presents Service Trophy To Outstanding Women's Unit

The two year old Associated Women Students' Traveling trophy will be again presented during the May 16 student assembly, according to Nanette Bybee, AWS council woman.

The trophy which is presented to the women's social unit outstanding in service, has been held by the Cesta Tie and Val Norn units.

Units gain points for the trophy by participating in such events as Y Day, cake baking contests, Homecoming parade, blood drives, and studentbody elections.

Points also may be earned for off-campus projects such as giving parties for the mental hospital and donating to worthwhile drives.

Accumulated points earned over the last school year will be counted this coming week.

The trophy is made of wood into a very modern work. On the wooden pedestal is a gold cup and a gold woman. On a small gold plate are inscribed the names of winning units and on a larger gold plate is the words "Associated Women Students Traveling Trophy."

A social unit winning the tr... phy three years in succession ... allowed to keep it.

Coach Kopp's Wife Teaches School, Loves Mountain West

Mrs. Football at Brigham Young University is Mrs. June C. Kopp, wife of head football coach, Harold Kopp.

Mrs. Kopp is a true lover of the West, was born and reared in Twin Bridges, Montana, and college at Western Maryland against her wishes, but now she says she doesn't regret going, there one to some that was where she met her husband.

Mrs. Harold Kopp

Currently she is a social studies teacher at Provo High School. Her duties also include some senior advisor plus being in charge of nineteenth girls. She has taught in 16 years in various schools in the east and now in Provo. Mrs. Kopp says she is quite satisfied with the curriculum here which provides opportunities for students to participate in responsible positions.

The Kopps have one son Karl, who is now sailing for Japan as a member of U. S. Army.

Mrs. Kopp lists her hobbies and interests as music, knitting, historical literature, traveling with the Coach and most of all, football.

In voicing her opinion of the West, Mrs. Kopp couldn't say enough "I love the climate and the scenery is beautiful" she said

Rodeo Queens Race Around Barrels In Shortest Time

Rhita Flake, Snowflake, Ariz., proved her horsemanship skills and clinched a win in the barrel racing event during the 3rd Annual Young University intercollegiate rodeo Friday and Saturday.

After competing for the best time in both rodeo performances, she scored a total time of 48.0

Following with a close second place time of 48.1 was the rodeo queen, Christine Arave, Salmon Lake, Idaho.

Sheri Turner, Anaheim, California, compiled a time of 50.7 after a little bad luck with her horse.

From Prineville, Ore. is the fourth contestant, Crystal Price. As she was rounding the third barrel she lost her footing in the stirrup and did not finish

In the barrel race the contestant was required to circle each of the three barrels and return to the starting line. Participants are racing against time in this event.
